Spotlight on Professionals

Spotlight on Professionals aims to share stories from those working in childhood programs. This includes all professionals such as home visiting, early intervention, child care, Head Start, preschool, and afterschool. These stories are also available on the Early Connections website.

This month, the spotlight is on child care staff members at the Bowling Green R-I School District.

The district in northeast Missouri is in its second year of offering a child care program for staff in their district.

The district assessed the needs of their community and collaborated with other child care stakeholders to determine this approach was a win-win for both the community and the district. This child care center serves children from birth to age 3, at which time the children transition to the district's preschool program until age 5. The child care program has grown from 6 children the first year to 30 children in the second year.

In addition to working to increase teacher salaries locally, creating this child care option for teachers was a key workforce recruitment and retention tool for the district. Superintendent Dr. Matt Frederickson said in the last three years teacher attrition rates in the school district have decreased from 11 percent to under 4 percent.

Teachers pay tuition at a rate equivalent to the average cost of the local providers. Additionally, the district's child care program is a place for high school students participating in A+ and Child Development classes to gain extra experience with opportunities for service hours.

To learn more about what parent education programs are in your area, visit the Global Program Locator found on the Early Connections website. The Global Program Locator will help you find a program that assists families, pregnant teens, or primary caregivers who are expecting a child or have a child under the age of kindergarten entry. The programs promote early learning, knowledge, and understanding of child development.

These programs partner with community resources and help support school readiness by promoting a smooth transition into preschool and kindergarten. Families can participate in regularly scheduled family personal visits, group connections, and developmental screenings.

REMINDER! Ensure You and Your Staff Are Following All Conditions of an Approved Variance

License & License-Exempt Providers:

If your facility operates with one or more variances to a rule, you must keep a record of that approval accessible at your facility. Variance rational allows a facility to request not to follow the specifics of a rule while still meeting the intent of the rule by ensuring the health and safety of children.

This often comes with additional conditions for the facility to follow. Make sure all staff at your facility know what your variance is for and what additional conditions are required. Contact your Compliance Inspector if you have questions.

NEW! Innovation Grants for Child Care and Business/Community Partners

There are three new funding opportunities for businesses and community partners who want to help increase access to child care in their local community. Check out this flyer with information about all three grants: Innovation Start-up, Innovation Expansion, and Workforce Innovation for Child Care Staff.

Spotlight on Success aims to share stories from local programs that are building community partnerships in order to strengthen and coordinate childhood programs.

Over three days in December 2022, the community leaders in area 22 partnered with the Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS), Educare, local health departments, Bright Horizons, the local school district, and a community business to offer child care training for 16 early childhood professionals. DHSS coordinated the training, the local school district provided a location to host the training, and the community business sponsored breakfast and lunch for training participants. At the end of the three days, all 16 participants were ready to work in a child care facility.

Through the collaboration of seven organizations, the community leaders were able to help support the community and child care providers. Kimberly Weakley says, "This is bigger than one person or organization. To be successful, it takes all of us working to support the families and children of our earliest learners. This is just one example of how we are truly better together. The future looks bright for our Missouri children and families."
